Providing proof of your de facto relationship

Life Event insurance cover

To apply for new or more cover due to a life event, you must provide the relevant documents within 60 days of the life event.

| | | Provide a statutory declaration | | Provide evidence |
|---|---|--|-----|---|
| 1 | Commenced a de facto relationship You and your de facto spouse live together on a genuine domestic basis in a relationship. | You need to complete, date and sign the Declaration of commencing/ceasing de facto relationship form in this document. AND Your de facto spouse needs to complete, date and sign the Partner's declaration of de facto relationship form in this document. | OR | Provide certified copies (see how to certify documents below) of at least two of the following documents: • registration of de facto relationship with specific state body • birth certificate (if relevant) of the birth of a child of the relationship • joint credit card or loan details • joint ownership of property and/or mortgage details • joint household bills |
| 2 | No longer in a de facto relationship | You need to complete, date and sign the Declaration of commencing/ceasing de facto relationship form in this document. | AND | No further evidence is required. |
| 3 | Death of a de facto spouse | You need to complete, date and sign the Declaration of commencing/ceasing de facto relationship form in this document. | AND | Provide a certified copy of an original Death Certificate or other information to support death, including: probate police report, or hospital certification. |

What's a spouse?

A spouse can be any of the following:

- · people who are married or in another form of relationship that's registered under Australian law, and
- people in a de facto relationship that is, they're not legally married but living together on a genuine domestic basis as a couple.

A spouse can be of the same sex or a different sex.

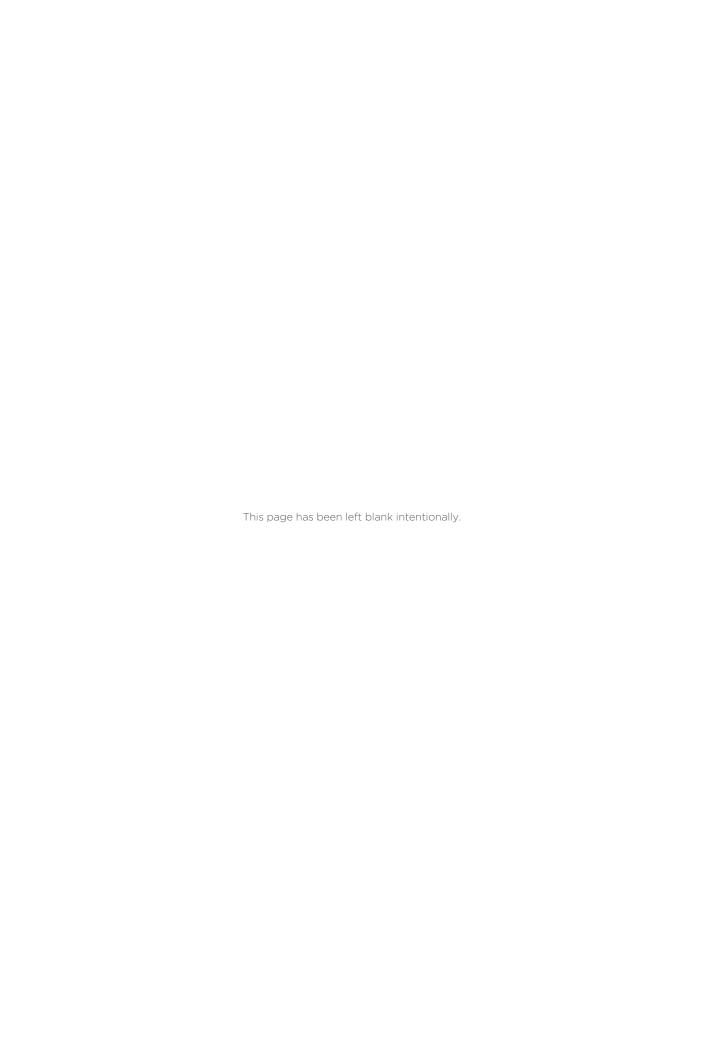

What happens if the information I provide isn't correct?

If the information provided isn't correct, then any increase in insurance cover or claims relating to this increase will not be allowed and premiums will be refunded.

How to have your statutory declaration witnessed and your documents certified

- Take your statutory declaration forms, original ID documents and copies to your legal practitioner, Justice of the Peace, magistrate, notary public, police officer, dentist, veterinary practitioner, pharmacist, accountant, Member of Parliament, minister of religion, or medical practitioner.
 Go to australiansuper.com/IDHelp for a full list.
- 2. A certified copy must be noted as follows: 'I certify that I have sighted the original document and this is a true copy of it.'
 - This certification must have the certifier's full name, title, registration number (where applicable) and be signed and dated.
- 3. Return your completed form and certified documents to us via our website at australiansuper.com/email or post it to AustralianSuper, GPO Box 1901, MELBOURNE VIC 3001.
