AustralianSuper appoints new executives

AustralianSuper today announced the appointment of two senior executives to drive the Fund's next phase of growth and deliver better outcomes for members.

AustralianSuper has appointed Felicia Trewin in the new position of Group Executive of Technology Services, while Michele Glover has been appointed as Group Executive People and Culture.

AustralianSuper Chief Executive, Ian Silk, said the Fund was delighted to have secured two executives with extensive expertise and experience in their fields that will further broaden the Fund's offering to members.

'AustralianSuper is a growing fund and we are fortunate to have people like Felicia and Michele join us,' Mr Silk said.

'Both will play an integral role in helping AustralianSuper deliver on its mission of providing members with their best possible retirement outcome.'

Ms Glover joins the Fund from Mercer where she was People and Culture Leader, Pacific with a focus on employee engagement initiatives, acquisitions, business partnership and driving a focus on diversity and related inclusion initiatives.

Ms Trewin has worked across the globe for Deloitte, Microsoft, and Accenture, and most recently at ANZ in Melbourne. Her roles at ANZ have included General Manager Technology Australia, and Head of Emerging Technology Labs.

The new Group Executive of Technology Services position was created to elevate the role and profile of the technology function in AustralianSuper.

Both new appointments will commence this week and will be members of the Executive Committee of AustralianSuper.

About AustralianSuper

AustralianSuper manages around $140 billion of members' retirement savings on behalf of more than 2.2 million members from around 270,000 businesses. One in 10 working Australians is a member of AustralianSuper, the nation's largest superannuation fund.
