Reporting questionnaire

Gender equality indicator 1: Gender composition of workforce

This indicator seeks information about the gender composition of relevant employers in a standardised format, to enable the aggregation of data across and within industries. The aggregated data in your workplace profile assists relevant employers in understanding the characteristics of their workforce, including in relation to occupational segregation, the position of women and men in management within their industry or sector, and patterns of potentially insecure employment.

NB. IMPORTANT:
- References to the Act mean the Workplace Gender Equality Act 2012.
- A formal ‘policy’ and/or ‘formal strategy’ in this questionnaire refers to formal policies and/or strategies that are either standalone or contained within another formal policy/formal strategy.
- Data provided in this reporting questionnaire covers the TOTAL reporting period from 1 April 2017 to 31 March 2018. (This differs from the workplace profile data which is taken at a point-in-time during the reporting period).

4.2 If your organisation would like to provide additional information relating to gender equality indicator 3, please do so below:

AustralianSuper’s overall pay equity gap is skewed by the remuneration of our Investments Group. There is a lack of senior women in this group, which is also an industry wide issue. AustralianSuper have implemented initiatives to build our representation of women within this group. Our annual remuneration review includes analysis to ensure that like for like roles are remunerated equitably - this process is overseen and signed off by our CEO. A comprehensive review of remuneration changes and increases by gender is also included to ensure outcomes of our performance process are equitable.

Gender equality indicator 4: Flexible working and support for employees with family and caring responsibilities

This indicator will enable the collection and use of information from relevant employers about the availability and utility of employment terms, conditions and practices relating to flexible working arrangements for employees and to working arrangements supporting employees with family or caring responsibilities. One aim of this indicator is to improve the capacity of women and men.
to combine paid work and family or caring responsibilities through such arrangements. The achievement of this goal is fundamental to gender equality and to maximising Australia’s skilled workforce.

18. If your organisation has introduced any outstanding initiatives that have resulted in improved gender equality in your workplace, please tell us about them.

(As with all questions in this questionnaire, information you provide here will appear in your public report.)

1. Our CEO has promoted gender equality through:
   - communicating our commitment to gender diversity at employee briefings.
   - via intranet and public careers website.
   - through his work as a Victorian Male Champion of Change.
   - through recruitment decisions for senior roles.

2. A key focus of our graduate and intern program is to ensure we meet our target of at least 50% women in each intake of interns and graduates. The promotion of our intern and graduate offering and initiatives has resulted in more applications from female candidates. We have managed to meet or exceed our targets for both intern and graduate programs this year and continue to develop the women we have recruited into this program over the past 5 years. During the reporting period, we met our 50% target for interns and exceeded our target for graduates - with 60% of our graduates being women.

3. AustralianSuper only participates on external panels where there is female representation.

4. AustralianSuper continues to take on an advocacy role on issues which impact disadvantaged members of the financial system, particularly around the gender super gap. AustralianSuper continues to make superannuation payments at the full-time rate to the primary caregiver during parental leave. Full time super will also be paid when the primary caregiver returns to work on a part-time basis for a period up to two years from commencement of leave.

5. Looking at our investments through a lens of women on boards. Our Sustainability Option has as one of its screening activities, to not include companies where there are no women on the board.

6. Our talent program includes specific development to build the people leadership and strategic skills of women. This year we invited talented women identified as emerging leaders to participate in a program called 'Thrive to Lead'. The program is designed to support the transition to leadership roles by developing participants' authentic leadership style, confidence to lead, presence, communication and stakeholder engagement effectiveness. This program has already improved the profile of the participants across the organisation.

7. Continuing to develop our partnerships with organisations supporting women, such as Work180 (previously Diverse City Careers) and Working Mothers Connect.

8. Supporting key women's events, such as the Mothers Day Classic, International Women's Day, Flexible Working Day, and White Ribbon Day.

9. We analysed the results of our first comprehensive Diversity and Inclusion Audit, utilising the insights to develop initiatives for inclusion the People and Culture Business Plan for FY18. This included a revision of support and resources for flexible work - a key enabler for driving inclusion.

10. Recruitment processes updated to incorporate more diverse sourcing channels to specifically target candidates in identified demographics. Undertook a review of recruitment practices to ensure unconscious bias is avoided.

11. Attracting women into our Investments group continues to be a challenge, however we have made progress via:
   - Providing meaningful roles without the hours, business development, travel etc. that might impede women working in more traditional investment houses.
   - 'Growing our own' via a focus on attracting women into our intern and graduate program, and implementing targeted development and career pathways.
   - Sponsorship and mentorship - we participate in broader external mentor programs, like Women in Banking and Finance, and we provide an environment where our younger women are exposed to more senior women - we look for ways to encourage these interactions.
- Moving people across teams within the Investments department, and providing opportunities for all staff to add to their skill set and provide space for opportunities.
- Looking for opportunities to move women from other areas of the business into Investments. We have recently transitioned a senior woman from our Operations leadership team into the Investments team, after a successful international 6 month exchange designed to develop the required skills.
- Participating in a project being led by Mercer to develop an Employee Value Proposition for the investment management industry, with a view to attract more young women into investment management careers.

12. Formed the AustralianSuper Women's Networking Group. This group has been established to provide an opportunity for women to network internally where they can learn from and support each other through their collective shared experiences through all stages of their career.
