

Making, changing or cancelling a binding death nomination

Follow these instructions to set up, change or cancel a binding nomination.

What's a binding nomination?

A binding nomination instructs AustralianSuper how to pay your death benefit if you die.

As long as it's valid, your nomination is legally binding and we must follow it. This is why it's important to consider changing or cancelling your binding nomination if your circumstances change, so that your benefit will be paid in line with your current wishes.

Who can I nominate?

For a binding nomination to be valid, the people you list at step 2 of this form must be (at the date of your death):

- your spouse (including de facto and same sex)
- your children (including step<sup>1</sup>, adopted or ex-nuptial of any age)
- financially dependent<sup>2</sup> on you
- an interdependant (someone who lives with you and shares a close personal relationship where one or both of you provide for the financial and domestic support and personal care of the other), or
- your legal personal representative, which means the executor or administrator of your estate.

You can only select one relationship per nomination.

How long does it last?

A correctly completed binding nomination remains valid for three years from the date you sign the form. The expiry date of your binding nomination is shown on your member statement and we'll also send you a reminder before your nomination expires.

How do I cancel my binding nomination?

You can cancel your binding nomination at any time. To cancel your nomination you need to complete steps 1, 3 and 4 of this form and return it to us.

How do I change my binding nomination?

You can change your binding nomination at any time. To change your current binding nomination you'll need to complete and submit a new valid Binding death benefit nomination form. This new nomination will override your current binding nomination.

Does it cost anything?

No. There are no fees for you to make a binding nomination.

What if my nomination is invalid?

If your nomination is invalid, we'll consider your wishes, but will use our discretion when paying out your death benefit.

Examples of an invalid binding nomination include:

- your nomination being made more than three years ago;
- the form being incorrectly signed and witnessed; or
- the individuals nominated no longer qualifying as your dependants at the date of your death.

Can I have a binding death nomination and a reversionary beneficiary for the same pension account at the same time?

No. If you currently have a reversionary beneficiary nomination and would like to make a binding death nomination, AustralianSuper requires that you cancel your reversionary beneficiary nomination by completing all the steps on this form.

More about interdependants

An interdependent relationship exists if:

- two people have a close personal relationship which involves a demonstrated and ongoing commitment to a shared life and each other's emotional support and wellbeing; and
- they live together, or are temporarily living apart; and
- one or each of them provides the other with financial support; and
- one or each of them provides the other with domestic support and personal care of a level normally provided in a close personal relationship, rather than by a mere friend or flatmate

OR

- if they don't live together or provide each other with financial support, domestic support and personal care, it's because one or both of them suffer from a disability.

Two people don't have an interdependent relationship if one of them provides domestic support and personal care to the other and is paid for this or works on behalf of another person or organisation such as a government agency, a body corporate or a benevolent or charitable organisation.

Whether your nominated beneficiaries qualify as your interdependants will be assessed when a claim is made.

AustralianSuper will pay your death benefit in accordance with your binding nomination if it:

- is made to us in writing on the form over the page;
- nominates one or more of your dependants (at the date of your death) or legal personal representative;
- is signed and dated by two people who have witnessed you sign and date the form, are aged 18 years or over and are not nominated on the form;
- received by us before your death; and
- has not expired before your death.

To set up a new binding nomination, or to change an existing nomination, complete steps 1, 2 and 4 of this form.

To change your binding nomination to a non-binding nomination, complete steps 1, 3 and 4 of this form.

<sup>1</sup> If your nomination(s) include stepchildren, the nomination will end if/when the relationship between you and the natural parent ends. For example, upon death or divorce. They may be able to qualify as having an interdependent relationship at the time of your death.

Privacy Collection Statement

Please read this Privacy Collection Statement to see how AustralianSuper uses your personal information.

AustralianSuper Pty Ltd (ABN 94 006 457 987) of Locked Bag 6, Carlton South, Victoria 3052, collects your personal information (PI) to operate, and administer, your super account (including insurance) or retirement income account, improve our products and services and keep you informed. ## 2 Nominate who you want to receive your death benefit

Read Who can I nominate? on page 1 before filling in this section.

If you're nominating your 'Legal personal representative', you do not need to complete the sections headed 'Full name' and 'Residential address' for that part of your nomination. However, you must complete the '% of benefit' section.

If you have more than five nominees, please attach them to this form on a separate sheet of paper.

Please use the two decimal point spaces provided for the benefit percentages (% of benefit) section to add up to 100.00%.

Please select one relationship per nomination.
