How your adviser can help

To live the life you want, your adviser can help you:
› budget and manage your money
› choose the right investment strategy
› plan for your retirement
› protect you and your family
› make the most of your super.
How much will I pay?

We’re all different, so everyone needs different advice.

General information
There’s no cost involved if it’s just general information you’re after like investment options information, insurance information, or adding to your super information. Start by checking out our website and online calculators or by speaking to one of our member support representatives with any general questions you may have about your super, as the cost is included in your membership with us.

Simple personal advice
For simple, personal advice on your investment options, insurance, or adding extra to your super advice, there’s no additional cost, as it’s included in your membership.

For more personal advice over-the-phone, such as transition to retirement and starting a pension account, a small fee may be payable.

Comprehensive advice
Conducted face-to-face, the adviser gets to understand your needs and prepares a Statement of Advice (SOA) for you, where a once off fee will apply. And don’t worry, you’ll agree to any costs up front in writing before you continue. Even better, in most instances there’s no cost for your first consultation. And where available, you may have the option to meet with an adviser using a secure video link from the comfort of your own home.

How types of advice could work

Johanna, 43 years
She’s returning to work after raising her family and has started doing her own fact finding.
She’s looking at ways to boost her super to make up for lost time. She uses the Retirement Balance Projection Calculator on our website, to see how much money she may need in retirement and learn about ways she can grow her super savings in just a few minutes.

Marius, 53 years
He’s starting to think seriously about his super and has some questions about whether he’s invested in the right options.
He doesn’t want to be short on money in retirement. He calls and speaks with an adviser who helps him understand the investment options available and advice on an appropriate investment strategy for him.

Gerry, 64 years
He’s planning to retire in 12 months. His wife retired three years ago and is on a disability pension.
They have an investment property and aren’t sure how this will impact their Centrelink entitlements. He makes an appointment to see a financial adviser to discuss their situation and get a comprehensive financial plan.
